PREFACE

Education is not merely about academic qualifications; it is about empowering individuals with the skills, confidence and opportunities needed to build dignified, independent and self-reliant lives.

Recognising the challenges faced by school dropouts and young people in Mumbra–Kausa region, MESCO Education Society established its Vocational Training Centre in 2008, in collaboration with Fr. Agnel Technical College, Bandra. The Centre was established with a clear purpose: to provide practical, employment-oriented training that enables young people to acquire useful skills, access livelihood opportunities and become productive members of society.

Over the years, the Vocational Training Centre has continued to expand its training initiatives, offering courses in Electrician, Air Conditioning & Refrigeration, Dress Making & Basic Fashion Designing and Information Technology. In 2023, the Centre received affiliation from the Maharashtra State Board of Vocational Education and Training, further strengthening its training and certification framework.

The impact of these initiatives is reflected in the achievements of our students. More than 1,550 students have successfully completed vocational training, while over 1,650 students have completed Information Technology courses. The employment data of our former trainees is encouraging. Approximately 69% of students completing the Electrician Course and 71% of those completing the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Course have secured employment. In the field of Dress Making and Basic Fashion Designing, around 25% of trainees have established their own businesses, transforming their skills into sustainable sources of income.

These achievements demonstrate that vocational education can open new doors for young people who may not have had the opportunity to pursue higher academic studies. By equipping school dropouts and other deserving youth with practical skills, the Centre has helped many more towards employment, entrepreneurship and greater financial independence.

This Fourth Edition of *The Skills Journey – Ex-Students' Directory brings together the details of 954 students from 23 batches spanning 2008–09 to 2025–26. Beyond being a directory of names, it represents a record of the Centre's journey, the aspirations of its trainees and the opportunities created through skill development.

We hope this directory will strengthen the bond between our former students and the Centre, encourage networking and collaboration and inspire current and future trainees to pursue their goals with determination.

MESCO Education Society expresses its sincere gratitude to all those who have contributed to this journey, including our trainers, staff members, collaborators, well-wishers, donors and supporters. Their continued encouragement has helped sustain our commitment to skill development and youth empowerment.

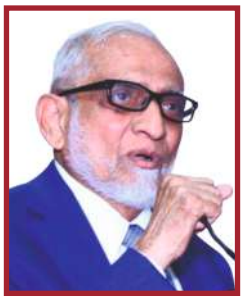

As we look ahead, our resolve remains firm: to transform skills into opportunities, opportunities into livelihoods and livelihoods into dignity and self-reliance.

With best wishes to all our former students for continued success in their personal and professional journeys.

GIVING SKILLS, RESTORING DIGNITY, CREATING FUTURES

Mr. S. M. Quraishi
(Chief Patron of MES)

Education is not merely about earning degrees. It is about preparing young people to live with dignity, earn an honest livelihood, and become self-reliant. This belief has guided our vocational training program for many years.

Our Vocational Training Center was originally housed in the main school building. Recognizing the importance of giving vocational education its own identity, we have now shifted it to a separate building, allowing it to develop independently and stand on its own feet.We have also streamlined our training into three practical and employment-oriented courses: Tailoring, Electrical Work, and Refrigeration and Air-Conditioning. We selected these trades because they offer opportunities for employment, self-employment, and small entrepreneurship, particularly for young people who cannot pursue higher education.

Education without Financial Barriers

One of the most important features of our program is that we provide all training completely free of charge. We do not collect tuition fees because we believe that financial hardship should never prevent a young person from learning a skill. Yet, surprisingly, attracting students remains one of our greatest challenges. Despite offering free education, we need to distribute publicity materials, approach communities and make repeated efforts simply to enroll approximately 180 students. This situation reflects a troubling social reality. Many families struggle with the rising cost of living, which has increased enormously since our youth. For economically disadvantaged households, even free education carries hidden costs: transportation, meals and most importantly, the income a young person might otherwise earn to support the family.

Small Skills, Life-Changing Opportunities

Our institution primarily serves young people from economically disadvantaged backgrounds, including those who could not complete their formal education. Without practical training, many of them face unemployment, insecurity and a future filled with uncertainty. We do not claim that every student becomes a successful entrepreneur. Most graduates begin with modest employment, performing electrical repairs, tailoring garments, servicing refrigerators, or maintaining air-conditioning equipment. Their earnings may be small, but these opportunities help them support themselves and contribute to their families. Even more encouraging, approximately 15% of our trainees have progressed beyond ordinary employment, establishing small businesses and in some cases, developing their own enterprises. These achievements remind us that success cannot be measured by numbers alone. Behind every trained student is a family that may benefit, a young person who gains confidence and a life that moves away from dependence towards self-reliance.

Why We Must Continue

At times, recruitment challenges, rising operational expenses and limited resources naturally raise questions about the future of vocational education. But closing such a program would mean shutting a door on young people who have already found many other doors closed to them. We therefore remain committed to sustaining and strengthening this initiative. We hope that parents, alumni, community leaders, business houses and well-wishers will recognize the importance of vocational education. We need their support not only to encourage enrolment but also to provide apprenticeships, employment opportunities, equipment and financial assistance.

Our ambition is simple: no young person should be denied the opportunity to earn a dignified livelihood merely because circumstances prevented them from completing formal education. If our efforts enable even one struggling young person to acquire a skill, support a family and face the future with confidence, our institution has fulfilled a meaningful part of its educational and social responsibility. After all, education achieves its highest purpose not simply when it produces graduates, but when it enables human beings to stand on their own feet. A skill in the hand, dignity in the heart and hope for the future—that is the promise of vocational education.

"Give a person a skill and you empower them to build a future with dignity and self-reliance."

Since 2008, MESCO Education Society (MES) has been working towards empowering individuals through vocational education and skill development at its Vocational Training Centre.
